

REFURBISHED JOMARS

May 2011

The Jomar machines have been around for over 40 years. And many are still in operation. This proves the solid engineering methods that are applied to our machinery.

We realize that not all companies can afford our new machinery but would like to take advantage of the equipment.

From time to time, Jomar will locate a good used machine. We run the machine through our first class shop for testing purposes.

We replace any parts that are worn or are not performing correctly. In most cases new clamp cylinders and screws and barrels are replaced.

All machines are brought up to ANSI/OSHA safety standards.

We use the word refurbishment rather than rebuild. A rebuilt machine is completely stripped and rebuilt with all new parts. The cost is much higher than a refurbished machine.
